our high schools. Although some courses are only offered at one school, the vast majority of the courses are offered at the three comprehensive high schools. Creating a common course catalog has helped us to develop a clean list of courses. Now we are developing a list of all courses that includes the core materials used for each course. We looked a copy of the list in draft form. Charisse will present a more complete list to IMC later this year. We will be developing similar lists for middle and elementary school levels.

The committee will
